When we engaged 4Momentum we were some way down the line with the development of a new web-based product designed to revolutionise the way in which people trade over the internet.

At the time we weren't expecting much. We'd opted for a free business review (via Business Link) and were sceptical... we didn't think we'd get anything useful out of it. But we decided to go for it, since it was costing us nothing.

To our surprise, the consultant from 4 Momentum was really clued up and came up with some great ideas and suggestions that we hadn't thought of ourselves.

We were shocked. We'd previously contracted so-called 'Business Consultants' who had cost us a great deal of money to very little benefit. And they didn't really understand what we were about. To be frank, they seemed more interested in how many more days' consultancy they could get from us than the level of help they could give our business.

4 Momentum was different. We would have happily paid them ten times the amount for the advice they gave us for free!

Now, we've engaged 4Momentum on a long term basis because of their approach, confidentiality, quality of advice and attitude to getting the best outcome for us.
